EXPLANATORY NOTES

The 1976-77 Directory of North Carolina Manufacturing Firms contains five sections. These list information on the State's approximately 6,700 manufacturing firms alphabetically, geographically, by manufactured product, by materials purchased, and in a new company name-parent company cross index.

The alphabetic index is a complete alphabetical listing of all manufacturing firms reported in the directory. It contains the name of each firm and the city or town location. Also, it indexes the firm in the geographic guide. The geographic guide provides the most comprehensive listing. It includes the facility's mailing and street addresses, city, county and region; company headquarter's location; name and address of parent company; chief executive and title; import-export capabilities and name of export manager; year plant established; phone number; employment range; 1967 SIC product codes and verbal description; purchases; and date of data collection. The product guide lists the mailing address, city, county, phone number, employment range, and verbal product description. Arrangement in this section is by four-digit SIC sequence. The purchase guide lists the mailing address, city, county, phone number, employment range, and verbal purchase description. Arrangement in this section is by two-digit SIC sequence.

Data contained in this directory came from a survey conducted in 1975 of North Carolina's manufacturing firms. Information for establishments which did not respond was verified in several ways. Whenever possible verification was made by telephone contact. In conjunction with this, invaluable assistance was provided by the seven regional field office representatives of the Division of Economic Development and individual chambers of commerce throughout the state. Every effort has been made to insure directory completeness. Although all known sources were utilized in compiling this directory, it is possible that some companies have been inadvertently omitted. Your assistance in helping identify these firms is solicited. A mail back card has been provided at the back of the publication for this purpose.

The Division of Economic Development appreciates the cooperative efforts of North Carolina's manufacturers in submitting data for this directory. An accurate inventory of North Carolina's manufacturing environment is a vital tool in planning for the economic growth of the state.

Manpower:
North Carolina is number one in vocational education enrollment.

North Carolina has made the transition from an agricultural to an industrial economy. Over 1,300 new industries located facilities in the State during the past decade, giving North Carolina one of the highest manufacturing growth rates in the nation. One important ingredient in North Carolina's successful industrial development has been manpower — our most valuable resource.

Industry must have a productive, competent work force to produce its goods and services. In order to provide North Carolinians with the opportunity to acquire the skills and training sought by industry, the State's educational system offers comprehensive vocational and technical programs at both the secondary and post-secondary levels. We in North Carolina are proud to lead the nation in the proportion of residents enrolled in vocational education programs. Enrollments in vocational education among the ten states are shown in the table below.

VOCATIONAL ENROLLMENT PER 1000 POPULATION AMONG THE TOP TEN MANUFACTURING STATES

State	1972-73 Enrollment Per 1000 Population
North Carolina	103.28
Illinois	97.06
Texas	60.29
California	59.60
Ohio	54.67
New York	52.16
New Jersey	49.38
Michigan	38.82
Pennsylvania	29.94
Indiana	29.60
